Holiness: For the Will of God is Your Sanctification This classic work by J.C. Ryle explores the essential nature of holiness in the life of a believer. Ryle delves into the biblical foundation of holiness, urging Christians to pursue a life of true, practical sanctification and self-consecration to God, emphasizing that holiness is as vital as justification for those who seek to see the Lord.

This Month's Devotion

Biblical peace is more than the absence of conflict; it is the deep, abiding sense of wholeness and security that comes from knowing God is in control. Jesus, the Prince of Peace, offers a peace that transcends understanding, guarding our hearts and minds even in the midst of life's storms (Philippians 4:7). As we trust in Him and walk in obedience to His Word, we experience this peace, not as the world gives, but as a gift from our loving Father, anchoring us in His unchanging presence. Let us seek this peace daily, allowing it to rule in our hearts and guide our actions.

Happy Labor Day

And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men.

Colossians 3:23 KJV

Never Forget

September 11, 2001, stands as a day of profound sorrow and reflection for Christians, as we remember the tragic loss of life and the deep scars left on our nation. In the face of such unspeakable evil, we turn to the hope and comfort found in our faith, believing that God is present even in the darkest moments. As we remember the victims, the bravery of the first responders, and the resilience of those who survived, we are reminded of Jesus' call to love our neighbors, to forgive, and to work towards peace. In this spirit, we pray for healing for the families and communities affected, for wisdom for our leaders, and for the courage to be instruments of God's peace in a world still in need of reconciliation. May we never forget the lessons of that day, and may our remembrance inspire us to live out our faith with greater compassion, unity, and resolve.
